LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Alliger:

I don't know who is responsible for the fine picture of The Wax Museum on page 15 of your April edition but I sincerely want to thank you for your help.

—Frank Ford
American Wax Museum
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Mr. Alliger:

On page 14 of the April issue, you have a photo of the women making Red Cross bandages, location unknown. I remember going there after school to see my mother, Mrs. Charles Chive, who helped make the bandages. The room is on the second floor of the then Randall Building, Oakland and Main, Doylestown over the Army-Navy Store. Some of the other ladies who helped were Mrs. Wm. R. Mercer, Mrs. VanArtsdalen, Mrs. Oscar Martin and Mrs. Norman Lear.

—Dorothy S. Kohler
Prospectville, Pa.

Dear Panorama,

Just a note to say thank you for my prizes, (in the "Unscramble The Towns Contest") We enjoyed the movie at The County Theatre very much, also the lovely record I selected at Pearlman's. It was fun! Thanks again.

—Mrs. Horace Tomlinson
Newtown, Pa.

Dear Mr. Alliger:

Thank you very much for the excellent article on Bucks County Prison in the May '64 issue of Panorama.

It is most gratifying that a magazine such as yours devoted the time and effort, and the lead-off space, to give Bucks County Prison the type of publicity which is most helpful.

This country needs more public-minded organizations such as yours. Keep up the good work.

Again, my thanks for your support.

June 1964

Ah, June! — The month of weddings and cooing. The billing comes in July.

It is the month of June,
The month of leaves and roses,
When pleasant sights salute the eyes and pleasant scents the noses.

—N. P. Willis

We first heard this phrase many years ago when cowboy star Roy Rogers used it as a closing line on his radio program. We would all do well to think about it today. The phrase, "It's nice to be important, but it's so much more important to be nice."

* * *

Colonel John Richardson on New Hope in his book "Words From Names", has quoted this limerick, which was President Woodrow Wilson's favorite:

"As a beauty I am not a star,
There are others more handsome by far.
But my face, I don't mind it,
For I am behind it.

It's the people in front get the jar."

—A. Euwer

THE WEATHER for June is dotted with rain storms. Rain predicted during the first five days, followed by clearing. Between the 8th and the 13th there will be a hard rain storm followed by clear weather thru the 19th, with the exception of about a 1" of rainfall storm in that period. It should turn very hot between the 26th and 28th, and end the month with a spot of rain.

OUR COVER

This month we begin a multi-part series of the Delaware River Valley, one of the most beautiful spots on earth. Panorama Historical Editor Roy C. Kulp has combed his files for material and photos, and The Panorama "Photo Morgue" has been tapped extensively for this series. You won't want to miss any parts of these interesting photo-articles. Our cover shows an early morning scene along the Delaware Canal earlier this century. (Photo from the Roy C. Kulp Collection)

SCHOOL DAYS, BUTTONS AND BOWS

"No more pencils, no more books, no more teacher's sassy looks."

That was the chant on the tongues of school children back in the early part of this century when school closed for the Summer.

Those were the days when girls had long hair, parted in the middle, and with braids either hanging down the back or neatly wrapped around the head. Big bow hair ribbons were also the style, as were high-necked and rather long dresses. To show the calf of the leg was immodest, unladylike, and deemed a sort of flirtation — and boys looked, even as they do today!

Boys, too, had their particular and peculiar garb, wearing knee pants, blouses, long black stockings and round garters made of black elastic about an inch wide. Coats, or sweaters, and neck-ties were a must for the boys, and suspenders had to be worn under the blouse. No oxfords, or loafers for the lads in those days, the shoes were of the high variety, either buttoned or laced, with four hooks instead of eyelets on either side of the upper part of the laced shoe. Girls generally wore high buttoned shoes and black ribbed stockings—no nylons in those days.

A class, characteristic of that era, is the one pictured herewith. It was the Sixth Grade in the Arch Street school in Perkasio, in the year 1907. William F. Weisel, a native of Weisel, Bucks County, Penna., was the teacher. Mr. Weisel later became a physician and engaged in general practice in Quakertown for many years. Since his death a number of years ago his practice has been continued by his son, Dr. William F. Weisel, Jr.

COMMENT

ENDORSEMENT

Good leadership of a political party assures good candidates and good government. Bucks County is fortunate in having top men as County Chairmen of both the Democratic and Republican parties.

Myron "Mike" Harris is the leader of the GOP and soon comes up for re-election by the party for another term, his first full term. He took over the party when Paul Beckert was appointed judge, and during that short time has taken the party from utter chaos, mass confusion and disorganization, and welded it into a smooth running organization. Most of the party workers that were "cast out" or "self exiled" during the Beckert regime are now back at work for the good of the party. Mr. Harris has done much to erase the bad feelings and discontent created by Mr. Beckert.

Panorama is pleased to endorse Mr. Harris for his first full term as GOP County Chairman. He is a dynamic leader and only good politics and good government can ensue from his election.

CAN BARRY MAKE IT

For many months we have argued the case for Senator Barry Goldwater. We feel that Senator Goldwater is not only the logical choice for the Republican GOP nomination, but the only GOP hopeful that could win the White House in November. We have been asked to clarify our position.

Of the leading contenders for the top spot on the GOP ticket, Senator Goldwater is the one man who offers the voter a choice. Nelson Rockefeller is, we feel, a "me too liberal", and would offer the country no new leadership, just a carbon copy of Democratic Party policies with a new label. Richard M. Nixon, would make a excellent candidate and president, but, with his loss in 1960 and his defeat in California for the Governorship against him, we feel it would be another Dewey or Stevenson type fiasco. Henry Cabot Lodge is a most charming man, but his lack-a-dasical campaign in 1960 is against him, not to mention the fact he has offered no program for the voters . . . just a smile. Our Governor Scranton and Governor Romney, we feel, are potential vice presidential timber and would arise to the top spot only in the case of a convention deadlock.

This leaves Senator Goldwater. Barry Goldwater has let his feelings be known on almost every subject. His basic philosophy centers around less Federal Government, less Federal spending and re-gaining our due respect in the world, something we have not had in many years.

Unfortunately, many unformed persons look on the word conservative as a "mid-victorian fogey" with no forward looking ideas. Senator Goldwater is about as far from this picture as one can be. His policies reflect "government by the people" instead of "government constantly for the people, cradle to the grave."

Our nation was founded on the principles of free enterprise, individual rights and freedom and minimum government regulation and interference. We have strayed far from this goal and are now slowly getting to the point where we were before the American Revolution, with the government controlling every move we make.

Can Barry Win? It is up to the American people. Do they want more Federal Government intervention in their daily lives or do they want the USA to be the country our forefathers gave us — free, strong and self reliant. The GOP convention and the November election will tell the story.

The trouble with Socialism is that when people lean on one another they soon get too weak to stand alone!

Roger Conduit

You expect the political picture to get slightly confused during a presidential election year. What with no less than seven hopefuls vying for the nomination in one party, it is understandable that candidates sometimes get their schedules mixed up. However, things really happened right here in little old Bucks County a few weeks back.

In case you haven't heard, three prominent political figures were scheduled to attend a dinner and make some appropriate remarks during dessert. Well, they got to the dinner without any trouble, but were very disappointed when the toastmaster failed to introduce them to the gathering. In questioning the "George Jessel of the Fire Company set," our politicians soon found that they were at the wrong dinner. They should have been on the other side of town. But, things were not a total loss as they raced across town and arrived just in time to make their speeches.

Now, I'm beginning to wonder if this was an honest mistake. I mean it! Isn't it possible that our vote gathering friends had received a tip that the food was better at the first affair? You know, after attending a number of these cold chicken, paste potatoes, and stone pea dinners, a good politician gets a bit tired of the menu. What better way to by-pass one then by arriving at the wrong place at the right time. You'll notice that they didn't leave until after the meal was served.

But, Supposing they arrived at the opposition party's get-together by mistake and found the menu to their liking. What with the way to a man's heart being through his stomach, who could tell what would have happened. After all, this very well might be the way that the Democrats got Wayne Morse!

It appears to be Open House time again throughout the countryside. New Hope had theirs a couple of weeks ago and it looks like other communities are going to get on the band wagon. You know what Open House means don't you? . . . Well, that when you throw open your doors and let all people who have wondered what kind of a housekeeper you are, pay to find out.

But, that's not all! They not only give you tips on how to improve the interior decorating, they also help you along with the suggested changes. For instance, they might think a rug needs a small hole right where they are standing and then proceed to put their sharp heel right through to the floor boards; or, that polished table might look much better with a cigarette burn in the upper left hand corner, so they just casually drop a hot ash in the exact spot! And let's not forget that antique lamp that would look much better smashed all over the floor. Now you have got to admit that those changes are for the better!

Many thanks to all the people who have sent suggestions about the pigeon problem. These will be passed on to the responsible parties for their consideration. However, because of the prominence of one of the writers, it is only fitting that we print his letter in this column . . .

Gentlemen:

As the duly elected president of COPE (Congress on Pigeon Equality), I wish to thank you for your remarks in the May issue of PANORAMA. It is about time that the public is given our side of the story.

After all, we have been here in Doylestown for years and we have never before complained about the treatment we have

A summer ride along the northern winding course of the Delaware River Road in Bucks County is one of the most scenic trips in America.

Traveling north on Route 32, The River Road, from the historic Washington Crossing Park through the villages of New Hope, Centre Bridge, Lumberville, Point Pleasant, Upper Black Eddy and Riegelsville, you pass through almost perpetual cool twilight, where mountain walls, the Palisades, reach a perpendicular height of nearly four hundred feet. In many places huge Sycamore trees overhang the roadway — and canal.

Along these shady reaches came several of America's most famous people — President Grover Cleveland came here several times to fish near the "Narrows" before the turn of this century. Thomas Edison visited in Riegelsville many times.

Delaware River and Canal

In the summer of 1841, one of the country's greatest authors — Washington Irving, came to the Upper Delaware regions by canal boat and was so thrilled, he wrote his sister an interesting letter describing what he observed.

"... romantic valleys — for upwards of 90 miles I went through a constant succession of scenery that would have been famous had it existed in any part of Europe . . ."

Of course the romancer of "Sleepy Hollow," who charmed the world with his writings did not come to the heart of Bucks County, but the scenery he saw was similar, although perhaps not as beautiful.

The old Delaware River Canal, completed in 1832, offers additional beauty, as it follows the river through lush pastures, wooded hills, quaint old locks, enchanting private gardens and near some pretentious river houses built during the nineteenth century.

The "Palisades," for a distance of three miles along the river, is perhaps the most outstanding scenery along this road. A road leads to the top of these cliffs to a section called "Top Rock," a breath-taking precipice, overlooking the river and New Jersey for many miles.

To add to the charm of this historic route, are the several old Inns that still are opened to the traveler, among these are the "Washington Crossing Inn" at Washington's Crossing; "Logan Inn" at New Hope, "Black Bass" at Lumberville, and the "Indian Rock" at the Palisades.

Perhaps a modern day Mark Twain will apply himself to the Delaware River and glamorize this stream, because without the deft touch of Twain the Mississippi would be just another river.

Since time began, Indians had lived here, and trotted what are parts of the present day River Road.

Steamers plowed the river from Lumberville to Easton during the 1850's. Rafting on the Delaware lasted for more than a century. Floods periodically swept these banks, pushing man back from its shores, but they came back, and rebuilt. Many of these houses standing along the Delaware today, are some of the finest to be seen in the county.

(To Be Continued Next Month)

These photos taken along The Delaware show scenes of the famous canal bridges and below, right, a vista of the canal and river as seen from atop the Palisades, near Kintnersville. (Panorama Photos)

MONTH OF JUNE MEMOIRS

— The Year 1922 —

JUST 42 YEARS AGO: I recall a new record being broken so far as medical science experiments were concerned. It was the occasion of the "mystery man" at The Master's Inn, a new hospital for nervous and stomach diseases at Rocky Dale, near Argus, taking his first food on the 50th day of his fast. He swallowed three glasses of orange juice. Not once during the 50 days did he fail to work in the fields or around the hospital.

... Announcement made by the Doylestown Borough school board that Doylestown's school tax for 1922-23 would remain at 12 mills, the only one opposing being the president of the board . . . Horace L. Smith Jr., of St. Petersburg, Fla., purchased one-half interest in the Doylestown Agricultural Works . . . Ex-Judge Harmon Yerkes who presided at the opening of National Farm School 25 years before the 1922 commencement, introduced the presiding officer at the 1922 silver jubilee meeting the Hon. Edwin S. Stuart . . . Thirty cases were listed for trial at the June term of criminal court with Judge William C. Ryan presiding and William W. Davis, of Wrightstown, serving as grand jury foreman.

... Thirty-nine graduated from Doylestown High in 1922, the largest class in the school's history and the baccalaureate sermon was preached by the Rev. William H. Boswell in St. Paul's Episcopal church. Ray Wodock's Doylestown baseball team shut out the Fox Motors of Philadelphia, 3 to 0, with Roy Blint pitching a three-hitter for the Wodockers . . . Other members of the D-Town team playing in that game for which I was the official scorer, were Kennedy, cf; Doyle, 2b; Gilham, c; Schaefer, 1b; Power, rf; McKeone 3b; Bradley, 2b; Gulick, rf.

... DOYLESTOWN Fire Chief Daniel G. Fretz made a very special appeal for more marchers to participate in the county firemen's parade at New Hope — June 1922 — by announcing that "we'll furnish the pants, the tie and the hat to any man that'll parade. All they'll have to get is the shirt, shoes, and socks — the three S's. The parade was a success and there were 2,000 marchers with Doylestown well represented.

... Miss Margaret B. Morgan, Lansdale High School principal, resigned her position to be married in the Fall to Joseph K. (Dobbie) Weaver, then Lansdale High coach and newspaper editor . . . The Public Service Commission granted Marshall E. Yost of Point Pleasant a certificate to operate a bus line between Doylestown and the Point, six trips a day (the application was opposed by the Philadelphia & Eastern Transit Company but the license was issued just the same.) . . . Two-piece summer suits were advertised by Wm. P. Ely & Son, Doylestown for $12.50, $16.50, up to $22.50.

Four of that class met untimely deaths. Stanley Moyer was fatally injured as a lad when he was struck in the stomach by a baseball bat in the hands of a playmate. Flossie Weeks died of diphtheria shortly after the photo was taken, Ruth Fehr died in her teens and Harold Moyer succumbed to pneumonia in an Army camp during World War I. Most of those boys saw service with the armed forces in that "War to End War," some being gassed or wounded in battles in France.

What has become of all these folks and what have they done professionally and otherwise since the days of hair ribbons and high buttoned shoes? Wouldn't we like to know? Ten of the original group of thirty-nine graduated from Perkasio high school in 1913. Time, marriage, employment and other factors scattered those youths to far and varied places. Death, too, has since taken its toll, and there is no telling how many of the original group are now numbered in the class of Golden Agers.

What a reunion that would be if it were possible to gather the remaining boys and girls of 1907 together in Perkasio before the Arch Street school and the rest of us pass into oblivion!

For "Auld Lang Syne," and for the edification of the younger generations, here are the names of those pictured youngsters of yesteryear:

Front row—Stanley Moyer, Clarence Daub, Otto Cressman, Isaac Haring, Raymond Spoerl, C. Normand Detweiler, Luther Besh, Charles Daub, Leon Sterner, Samuel Neff, Harold Moyer, Walter Kulp.

Second row—Josephine Slotter, Beatrice Williams, Ruth Fehr, Esther Rosenberger, Olive Cressman, Ada Harr, Elizabeth Laury, Lizzie Landis, Gertrude Sacks, Earl Lewis, Charles Bartholomew, Calvin Afflerbach, Victor Cooley.

Third row—Viola Moyer, Leola Keyser, Anna Headman, Marion Bowen, Gertrude Schatz, Flossie Weeks, Elsie Moyer, Edward Dillon, Raymond Cope.

Rear row—Edna Leister, Martha Vissel, (William F. Weisel, teacher), Vernon Stover, Herbert Heckler, Lloyd Bissey.

Long before the present day word "CARE" was coined there were people in Quakertown who cared about less fortunate people elsewhere. And so it was back in 1901 that a group of girls set out to do something for others.

The "North American," a Philadelphia daily newspaper, (now defunct) was the sponsor of "The North American's Poor Children's Relief Fund," to provide outings and other enjoyment for the city's less fortunate youngsters.

Children in Philadelphia and suburban areas held porch parties to raise money to contribute to the cause and the idea spread through the North Penn valley also.

The "North American," which had a sizeable circulation in this community, ran a feature page in its August 16th (1901) issue, including a picture of the Quakertown lassies, with the following account of the local affair:

LITTLE GIRLS EARN $100 FOR THE FUND

Porch Party in Quakertown
Aids the Thousands of Tenement Sufferers

Twelve little girls gave a porch and lawn party at Broad and Main Streets, Quakertown, on August 9. They realized $100.31 which they gladly sent to the "North American's Poor Children's Relief Fund. Tickets were sold at five cents for children and fifteen cents for adults. The former were entertained from 3 to 6 P. M., and the latter from 7 to 10 P. M.

All were treated to a glass of lemonade and a piece of cake. Ice cream was sold for ten cents a plate. A distinct novelty consisted of a pile of sand called "The Klondike." In this were buried many small articles and guests were charged five cents

WROTE ONE "Art Dope" in a Bucks county daily, June 12, 1922 — "Doylestown went to Lansdale on Saturday afternoon, won a ball game, then threw it away to a team not one-half-of-one-percent better than Doylestown, and ended things by wrapping themselves up in their own crepe, the only thing missing being a pine box to fit the nine ball players from Doylestown. The score was 7 to 4 with Lansdale getting but one earned run."

JUNE OF 1964: One of the enjoyable events of this June was the 1964 forum luncheon of the Philadelphia Sportwriters Association at the Sheraton Hotel in Philadelphia. The luncheon was a salute to Walter Alston, manager of the world champion Dodgers and pocket billiard player par excellence.

for the privilege of digging out a nugget. The Germania Band furnished music for the occasion. The children who were responsible for the success of the party were Alma and Ada Wickert, Gertrude and Rachel Haring, Mabel and Helen Heitz, Grace and Irene Wilson, Ada Landis, Ethel Ball, Gertrude Gussman and Bertha Fisher.

Thus were the Quakertown girls, known as "The Sunshine Girls," honored for their part in the cause. Similar parties were held in sections of the city, in Newtown Square, Haddonfield, N. J., and other places, but the Quakertown girls outdid all the rest in monies raised. The highest amount realized by a Philadelphia group was $25.

The accompanying picture which appeared in the North American was taken in front of Liberty Hall at Main and West Broad Streets, behind which the Liberty Bell was hidden one night on its journey from Philadelphia to Allentown to escape capture by the British.

Identification of the girls is as follows:

Second row—Ada Landis, later Mrs. Horace Boorse, deceased; Gertrude Haring, now Mrs. Gertrude Musser, Quakertown; Mabel Heitz, later Mrs. Harold Kittelman, deceased; Ethel Ball, now Mrs. Ethel Hallowell, Jenkintown.

Rear row—Miss Helen Heitz, Quakertown; Grace Wilson, deceased, late of Philadelphia; Bertha Fisher, now Mrs. Bertha Welling, of Princeton, N. J.; Gertrude Gussman, now Gertrude Beihn, of Quakertown.

One of Panorama's staunchest fans is Radio Station WIP personality JIM TATE. Jim has had a great deal of trouble commuting to work in center city Philadelphia, due to the heavy traffic on the Expressway. After being late for his 10 AM to 1 PM show several times, it was suggested that perhaps Jim should take the river instead of the expressway. Thinking it a good idea, Jim took a motor launch from City Line Bridge into the city instead of driving his car. Worked out fine, as he got to work an hour and a half early. Perhaps we'll be hearing of the "Jim Tate Motor Launch Service" in the near future as a way to fight congestion, on the expressway.

Harmon Farr

Harmon Farr and his "Farr Better Music" play for listening and dancing each Friday evening at Piper Hill Chalet. We caught the band on opening nite, and they are really fine. Most dance-able music we've heard in a long time.

Jim Tate

Not far from Altoona, tourists can visit "Seldom Seen Valley Mine" . . . unique among America's tourists attractions. Visitors can see how all deep coal is mined while riding comfortably through a working coal mine in electric cars. Youngsters particularly enjoy "Mining" their own bucket of coal and meeting the legendary "Big John."

THIRTY: One of the most enjoyable events of the past few weeks was the William E. Wolfe Testimonial Dinner at the Warrington Country Club. I very well remember as a sports writer, how I had some trouble in convincing the late Dr. Carmon Ross, our D-Town High School superintendent, to establish football as a sport in our town . . . After that, Coach Bill took over and did a good job.

LAST but Not Least: In our ramblings, I find that the big event of the Merry Month of June in Central Bucks will be the inauguration of through bus service between Doylestown Shopping Center and the Broad Street Subway station at Olney avenue in Philadelphia, starting Sunday, June 21. All this has been accomplished through the untiring efforts of two of my pals, Bill Kline, president of the Central Bucks Chamber of Commerce and John DeSousa, the never-tiring chairman of the Chamber's transportation committee.

"Olde Route 22" has at last extended itself. The Philadelphia Transportation Company has announced the extended service will operate throughout the entire day and evening, including Sundays, beginning June 21. Buses will operate at intervals of approximately one hour from 6 A. M. to 1 A. M. New timetables are now being prepared. The fare from Doylestown to Philadelphia will be four PTC tokens (93-1/3¢) or $1.00 cash. Free transfers will be available from Bus 22 to the Broad Street Subway and in reverse direction.

The scheduled running time from Doylestown Shopping to Broad and Olney will be one hour and 15 minutes until the present 25-mile speed limit signs on Route 611 are removed. Express service from Olney Subway Station to CITY HALL is an added 17 minutes.

AND DON'T FORGET: Central Bucks High School graduation date is June 9th 1964.

Stephen Foster, America's beloved composer of folk music, was born in the little town of Lawrenceville, Pennsylvania. During his youth he attended school in Towanda and took much of his inspiration from the Susquehanna River and surrounding towns. Another Pennsylvania village memorialized by Foster is Camptown, where he composed his famous "Camptown Races."

Success Story, Soviet Style

On a recent visit to the Soviet Union, an American businessman talked to some workers in a factory in Kiev. "I began as a shoeshine boy," he told them, in typical Horatio Alger style, "and today I am a millionaire."

Leaning on his broom, an elderly floorsweeper nodded his head. "I almost had a career like that too," he sighed. "But at the 22nd Party Congress it turned out that I'd been polishing the wrong shoes for the past 30 years!"

"Well, we're a one-car family again!"

Fire Prevention

No. 2 of a Series

Sparky says:

If Fire Strikes Your Home...

GET OUT of the house the minute you discover it or smell smoke!

ALWAYS be ready to use different escape routes from any room in your house!

TEST doors before opening. If doors are hot, block them with furniture or wet mattresses to keep out smoke and gases. Get out another way!

NEVER jump from upper-story windows except as a last resort! Wait for firemen.

HOLD your breath if you have to make a dash through smoke and flame!

REMEMBER, the air is usually better near the floor in a smoke-filled room!

CALL the fire department at once! They know how to fight fire. Don't waste your time or your life trying to fight a fire, unless it's so small you're sure you can control it with the right extinguisher.

DON'T ever go back to a burning building for any reason! Smoke and fire gases from even the smallest fire can be deadly.

GET medical treatment at once, if you're burned or exposed to fire and smoke! Seemingly minor burns or smoke inhalation can have fatal results.

received. In fact, we didn't even complain when our original perching location was torn down without our approval so that the new court house could be erected.

It was not even our idea to take perching rights on the new building. To be perfectly honest, it was at the suggestion of many of the population. It was these people who stated time after time after time, "The new court house is for the birds."

Very truly yours,

Have you noticed the emphasis that has been put on air pollution during the past few weeks? There are announcements on the radio and articles in the paper about the duties of each and every citizen to help combat this serious problem. With this in mind, I wish to pass along a tip that I heard and feel to be excellent.

As you undoubtedly know, automobiles give off carbon monoxide fumes and these fumes are a big cause of air pollution. Along the same lines, it is also known that green plants counteract this gas and tend to purify the air. This is one reason that the air pollution problem is not as critical in the rural areas as it is in the urban developments.

Bearing this in mind, it figures that if there are sufficient green plants to counteract all the carbon monoxide then one major cause will no longer be present. Therefore, it becomes the motorists responsibility to see that this situation comes about.

There are several ways that this can be done. One being that the street commission could plant a grass strip between lanes of traffic instead of the currently existing white lines which are usually faded anyway. Another is that traffic lights could be hung on trees instead of those barren metal poles. In addition, car owners could place planters full of flowers on car roofs, trunks, and bumpers. Not only would these suggestions solve the pollution problem but they would also serve to enhance the beauty of the landscape. Idea?

Here is the Merry Month of June — our personal favorite, as your editor's birthday falls this month. We reach the magical age of 30 this year, (gasp!) We can remember as a kid thinking that no one ever lived that long, but here we are still going strong. Only 35 more years until retirement!

WANT TO HELP??? We know there are many readers who pick up Panorama Magazine at news stands every month and sometimes miss a month or so, and then find they have missed several articles on Bucks County History that they wanted to read. You can keep up with all of the information packed in each issue of Panorama and help us put out a better magazine by subscribing. In the magazine business, the number of copies of a magazine that are sold determines whether an advertiser will place his advertising with them or not. Without advertising, there would be no newspapers or magazines for you to read. PANORAMA is most fortunate to be the leader in news stand and subscription sales in the local magazine field. We also carry more local advertising for more local merchants than any similar publication. However, we need your support to continue our growth and to continue to bring you a better PANORAMA each month. If you are not now a subscriber, why not send in your subscription. When you shop a store advertised in Panorama, mention to the merchant you saw his advertisement. Ask other merchants why they don't advertise in PANORAMA if you don't see their advertisement. You, our readers, have been solely responsible for making PANORAMA the leader and the publication it is today. We thank you for this, welcome your comments, and will look for your subscription. We have a "Month of June" special offer for new and renewal subscriptions. Instead of the usual $2.75 per year, with the coupon in this issue, you may subscribe for just $2.00 per year between now and June 30th. So tell your friends and neighbors, and let's go. (End of commercial!)

The second semi-annual Covered Bridge Antique Flea Market will be held on Saturday, June 13 (rain date—following Saturday) at Lake Lenape, on route 152 in Perkasio, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. In a beautiful grove, whose entrance is marked by a covered bridge, forty antique dealers from several eastern states will display merchandise of distinction and diversification. Homemade foods can be eaten at picnic tables in the area, or bought to be enjoyed at a later time. (Our best Bucks County cooks are on this project.)
